Reading Comprehension (60)

Read the following passage carefully, then answer the questions below:

Robots are smart. With their computer brains, they can do work that humans prefer not to do because it is dangerous, dirty, or boring. Some robots are taking jobs away from people. Bobby is a mail carrier robot that brings mail to a large office building in Washington, D.C. In more than seventy hospitals around the world, robots called Help Mates take medicine down halls, call for elevators, and deliver meals. There is even a robot that is a teacher. Mr. Leachim is a fourth-grade teacher robot. He weighs 200 pounds, is six feet tall and has some advantages as a teacher. He knows each child's name, the parents' names and what each child knows and needs to know. In addition, he knows each child's pets and hobbies. Mr. Leachim doesn't make mistakes. If the children do not understand something, Mr. Leachim's lesson over and over again. Therefore, he does not get upset if a child is "difficult."

Today scientists are trying to create a robot that shows emotions like a human being. Cynthia Breazeal has created a robot called Kismet. As soon as Breazeal sits in front of Kismet, the robot's mood changes. The robot smiles. Breazeal talks to it the way a mother talks to a child, and Kismet watches and smiles. When Breazeal starts to move backward and forward, Kismet does not like that and looks upset. The message Kismet is giving is "Stop this!"Breazeal stops and Kismet becomes calm. Another thing Kismet does like a child is to play with a toy and then become bored with the toy and close its eyes and go to sleep. Breazeal is still developing Kismet. Kismet still has many things missing in its personality. It does not have all human emotions yet, but one day it will!

At one time, people said that computers could not have emotions. It looks very possible that in the future scientists will develop a computer that does have emotions and even can be a friend. But what are the advantages of having a friend that's a machine?
